

Iridium Two-Stage Dialing

The Iridium two-stage dialing service allows callers to dial your Iridium phone from anywhere by calling into an Arizona (480) area code number and entering your Iridium phone number. Usually the incoming call is paid for by the caller. With Iridium two-stage dialing, the call is routed to your Iridium handset, and thus the Iridium subscriber is now responsible for the cost of the call.

This solves the problem of some telephone carriers not accessing the 881 country code.

With Iridium two-stage dialing, you simply:

1. Dial +1 (480) 768-2500 first, then
2. Enter the 8816 number of the Iridium phone when prompted

With Iridium two-stage dialing, the cost to the caller is only a regular long-distance or international phone call to Arizona, which is often much less expensive than Iridium rates charged by long-distance carriers. Remember, if the caller dials your Iridium phone number directly, there is no cost to you for the incoming call.

Emailing an Iridium Phone

E-mails can be sent to Iridium pagers or phones by entering the Iridium phone or pager number into the following generic address, 8816[number]@msg.iridium.com.

Short messages can also be sent via the Iridium website.

The Iridium URL for this is <http://messaging.iridium.com/>. Be sure to have your Iridium 8816 number handy.
